

Studio sessions offer a unique learning environment.

Rosetta Stone TOTALE® PRO takes learners beyond the study of a new language and actually immerses them in live online conversations in Rosetta Studio®. Learners are guided and motivated by an experienced Studio Coach who is a native speaker. Up to three other learners who have made similar progress in Rosetta Course® also join in the session. Learners hear and speak only in their new language as they gain confidence in this unintimidating environment.

Confidence grows with support from a Studio coach.

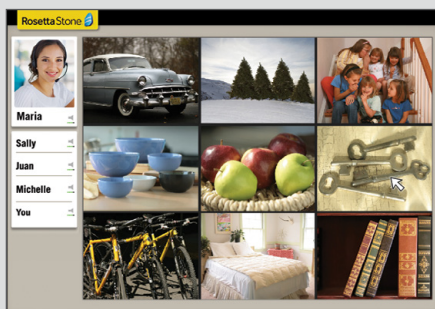

Studio Coaches are trained to encourage interaction and help learners understand and speak their new language—without translation or memorisation. Studio Coaches are visible via live one-way video as they guide learners through one-to-one and group conversations with one another. As learners master more of their new language, Studio sessions challenge in new ways, leading to breakthrough moments that build confidence.

Conversation reinforces Rosetta Course® lessons.

Studio Coaches facilitate relaxed conversation between learners using on-screen imagery and content previously introduced. As learners progress in Rosetta Course, Studio sessions become available to be scheduled. The systematic structure of Rosetta Course ensures that learners are well prepared for Studio sessions prior to attending.

Trained Studio Coaches who are native speakers of the new language facilitate live conversations between learners.

Learners practice their new language and engage in structured conversation, building confidence quickly and efficiently.

Scheduling is easy, learners just click the "Schedule" button on the TOTALE PRO home screen.*

From the scheduling page, learners can choose an available session at a convenient time for them. Sessions are available throughout the day.

Learners choose sessions that fit their schedule.

Studio sessions are available throughout the day, in all time zones around the globe, and scheduling is easy. Learners review the session schedule by following the Rosetta Studio® Schedule link on the TOTALE® PRO home screen and selecting a session that is ideal for their schedule.*

Live conversation practice delivers results.

Rosetta Studio is like having a tutor to help learners practise their speaking skills, taking the immersion experience to the next level. Learners gain confidence more quickly when they practise with a native speaker of the new language. Confidence motivates learners to continue learning and ultimately delivers them to their goal of speaking a new language.
