

ROSETTA STONE® FOUNDATIONS A-G CERTIFICATION

Prepare students to meet graduation language requirements.

Rosetta Stone has received A-G certification from the University of California (UC), enabling high school students throughout the state to earn course credit towards graduation through a virtual world language program. School districts can now leverage Rosetta Stone® Spanish I, II, and III, French I and II, and German I and II as for-credit offerings. Our online program engages students with advanced instruction and practice in reading, writing, speaking and listening skills.

Three levels of instruction support the blended learning environments and traditional classrooms. Students can use the program at school, home, or on a mobile device.

Rosetta Stone® Foundations for K–12 is a comprehensive language solution.

- Immersion environment activates students' natural aptitude for language acquisition
- Gamification delivers measurable results while making learning fun and interesting
- Downloadable offline supplemental materials extend learning
- Internet solution means no software to install, no data to warehouse, program access anytime, and automatic upgrades

To receive this certification*, Rosetta Stone language offerings had to meet UC's 15 "power standards" for online courses and at least 27 of iNACOL's Standards for Quality Online Courses. The California Learning Resource Network also had to certify that the Rosetta Stone program achieves 80 percent relevancy against the California Content Standards or the Common Core State Standards.

Courses from California high schools and online schools used to satisfy the A-G subject requirements must be approved by UC and appear on the institution's A course list.
